The overshadowing interest in carrying of the bond electon to provide funds for a complete plans on the new campus at Broadway and Verdugo Road, dominated the first meeting of the High School Parent-Teacher Association of that institution of learning held Wednesday in the cafeteria of the school at 3:15.

The association by standing vote indorsed the high school bond proposition and the proposed com-munity recreational center which Don Orput, representing the national organization has come to Glendale to help organize.

Moore, president of the Glendale Federation of Parent Feacher Associations who read a essive of greeting which was a lead to parents and teachers to dishoulder to shoulder in meeting the difficult problems that develop when children who have gone along fairly well in the gram-mar schools are transferred to growing freedom. Said she: "Let us all with one accord pull together to make our boys and girls realize the privileges and responsibilities of a first class high school education. Let us not be satisfied with anything less than the best." She then spoke of the community service plan for a recrectional center and the indorsement given the project by the federation, with the hope that the high school P. T. A. would take

Helen Sherwood, president of the Cirls League of the school, made a plea for the support of the bond lusue at the coming election on Ferday, reading the letter to the public prepared by the Board of Trustees setting forth the congestion of the school caused by a 42 per cent increase in attendance last fear and a 47 per cent increase this year as a reason for building a plant on the new in large enough to accom modate the 3000 students that will probably be waiting to occupy it by the time it can be completed in 1924 if Glendale and Eagle Rock continue to grow at their present pace. Referring to the congestion and its handicap upon the school she said: "We students who have en in the school the last three ears, have seen privileges and adantages disappear. It is too late for us to profit by the new school but we are keenly anxious that the new students who are coming on ould have the advantages they deserve and the advantages Union High used to have before it became to crowded. We hope you will vote the $350,000 bonds that the students may have what they deserve and what other igh schools would give them."

Principal George U. Moyse was given a few moments at the close session to speak on the bonds. Said he: "This is a critical thing in the lives not only of the 1500 students in the high school but of several thousands in the grammer schools who will soon be knocking at the door of the high The upper grade students are not as vitally concerned in the proposition because they are going copner. It is the 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th grades that stand the brunt of this crisis.

Moyse then quoted the es timated cost to tax payers which the voting of $350,000 bonds would entail for the first year, viz. only 90 cents per thousand of actual valuation. But since the assessed valuation is 50 per cent of the real value. It would actually represent but 45 cents per thousand of valua-tion of $2.25 on a home valued at $5000, a sum that most parents would apend for movie tickets or sandy for their children with-vincing. Broadway had 365 at the end o the first week and 392 three weeks later, or 27 more pupils, nearly enough for a new room Central Avenue had 316 against 345, a gain of 29. Pacific Avenue had 423 against 143 at the end of the month, or 20 more pupils in spite of the fact that 13 had been removed from the kindergarten of that school Colorado had 314 against 340 at the end of the month. Cerritos had 231 against 251.

Doran had 278 the end of the first week against 298 at the end of the month. Acacia had an enrollment of 281 which increased to 298. Magnolia increased from 34 to 59, the increase being represented in part by the new kindergarten established there.

PATTERSON POOL CLOSES SEASON

After consulting Dr. G. Kaem merling and City Manager Reeves the announcement is made by L. R. James that the Patterson park swimming pool will be closed during the winter months. SHORT CHANGE OPERATOR IS

plicate License Plates

The short change artist is here Warning is being sent out this forning to the merchants of Glenuate by Chief of Police Fraser, asking them to look out for the short change artist who has been working in Glendale for the past ouple of days.

This fellow, who drives a coupe, which is all dolled up with spiffy old-rose curtains, and lots of other extras, made the rounds of some of the Glendale stores the past few days. In some cases his little tricks were unavailing but in others he managed to get away with his crooked work.

Early yesterday morning Chief of Police Fraser started on the trail of this elusive crook. He succeeded in getting the license number of the car the fellow was driving, and going to the motor vehicle depart ment in Los Angeles he found that this was the number of a car be longing to A. R. Nine One-hundredths of a Cent-or Education?

By JOHN H. GERRIE

Dear Parents of Glendale: I want to ask you one plain question as one parent to another. Which do you value more:

A few cents saved on your tax bill? Or this:

The life welfare of your boys and girls? This question is squarely before you today. You must decide it now and forever. Each of you must decide it for yourself. Tomorrow in the secrecy and sanctity of the polling booth you will record your preference. No one else ever may know how you voted upon the high school bond issue but yourself. But in the years to come you will be your own judge, and elation or retribution may be the measure of your own verdict upon your action of tomorrow. Dear Property Owners of Glendale: May one who loves and reveres this marvelous key city as you do yourselves put a question concerning its welfare for all time? Which bulks larger in your eyes:

A few extra dollars in the bank and education stagnating around you?

Those extra dollars at work improving the minds of the young people of your own home and your own district and training worthy successors to carry on after you and your friends have gone into permanent retire-

You, too, must decide this question today and as you decide so shall your reward be, for the results of tomorrow's election will be with you as long as you make this favored spot your home.

You may vote for or against a candidate for office and be pleased or sorry throughout the term occupied, but a vote for or against education immediately and permanently affects thousands of developing minds and the damage already done cannot be repaired at any future election.

That is something to think over, Dear Parents and Dear Property Owners. But do not think longer than today, for tomorrow you must cast your vote. What a simple question it is anyway you are asked to vote upon? If you think about it for ten minutes it seems inconceivable that your verdict can be anything but favorable to the high school bond issue. Let us look at the facts:

You are asked to vote "yes" or "no" upon issuance of city and district bonds, totaling $350,000, to be used for these two purposes: 1-To buy now, while still possible to obtain acreage at reasonable price, a new school site in the northwestern section of the city, now inadequately supplied with schools and where increasing residential development soon will render that inadequacy acute.

2-To supply additional funds, now absolutely essential, for the immediate construction of a district high school on the splendid East Broadway site that will provide educational facilities not only for the needs of today but for those of the near future.

And what will the cost of that bond issue be to the taxpaying community?

The issue of $350,000 is to be spread over a period of forty years so that those who are benefited in later years will help to pay for it. Of the principal, $8750 will be paid off anually. Interest for the first year on the full amount at 5 per cent will be $17,500. After the first year both principal and interest will steadily decrease. The peak of the load to be carried by the community for the first year therefore will be $26,250.

The assessed valuation of the high school district for this year is approximately $30,000,000. The extra tax burden of this bond issue will figure out less than ninetenths of a mill, or brought to a fraction of a cent it will be less than .0009. Here is the situation in a nutshell: Dear Parents and Dear Property Owners, which do vou want:

EDUCATION?

No need to repeat here that which you all know. No need to remind you that Glendale, fastest growing small city in the world, increases school enrollment so rapidly that plans prepared for January are inadequate for September. The high school term opened in September, 1921, with 1016 pupils and last Monday there were 1508 pupils. Every Monday finds an addition of eight or more, even in mid-term. By January 1 next the gain over last May, when the $600,000 high school bonds were voted, is calculated to be 42 per cent. Construction of a new high school cannot be completed before February, 1924, at earliest, and at the present ratio of enrollment gain the school as planned last spring will scarcely accommodate the puplis almost sure to be waiting for the opening in 1924.

The funds to be provided by the new bond issue will be sufficient. it is figured by students of the situation, to provide Glendale with an institution that will be ample for the dissemination of knowledge to the youth of the community for years to come. It will enable construction along broad lines with provision for additinal units in later years as occasion requires. The bond issue you will vote upon tomorrow, if carried, will give Glendale an institution of learning in keeping with the splendid achievements of this beautiful and prosperous young city. You will not be happy, or even content, with less. It is a question whether you can long continue your growth and prosperity with less. As you go to the polls take this thought with you:

what's making my brain swim and causing a general run down of my constitution. Not so fast. I'm saving that for the climax. If you made a lot of promises would you keep 'em? May be you would and maybe you wouldn't. I don't care. I got my own promises to keep and it's against the law to keep 'em. This is a free country and I thought that a man could yote for who you want to, but you can't. At least I can't. I got to vote for five candidates for the same office. I wouldn't mind doing office. I wouldn't mind doing that if they'd let me, but I was informed today that it was mpossible to permit such vile igs. It all came about by an assembly what was held at school to talk about the candidates for this office of secretary of assemblies. They all looked pretty good to me and I says to myself "It's going to be close and the one that wins will be the hardest worker and appealer when it come to enticing unsuspecting individ-uals. But they'll never get my promise cause I vote for who and which I please." Well, hardly does I step out of the aud when good lookin young lady comes up to me and asks me would I vote for Hanold Heacock. I says, 'I don't know. I ain't decided yet.' That starts her off. She says, Of course you'll vote for Harold; he's the best qualified for the position.' A few more appeals and trouble number one was started. I consented to give Harold my unqualified support. Before the day was over I had pledged my support

Then to be nice a supporter of Stillman Chase gets my premise for a vote. Count m. One, two, three, four, five, counting Kinnan. Every one of them worthy of the office but all can't win. That is unless the rest of the kids vote like I promised to. Then that won't decide anything. It is a tie. In the meantime I'm ticd. About the only thing left for me is to be good and sick when they pull this election and stay at home. I'll be livin up to my promises then, won't i? Sure I will, each and every one of them will be getting my support. That is my moral support.

What Etha me Be o the Voters of Glendale Union High School District

At tomorrow's election we are offering you an opportunity to secure a High School site in the Northwest section that is worthy of the Glendale Union High School District; at a price $1500.00 per acre less than is asked for the Gardner site, located just across the boulevard.

Trees of the property of the steady and the and page a business The property which we offer is located on Glenwood Road, at the Northeast end of the PELANCONI ranch, and consists of 20 acres, having a frontage of 1000 feet on Glenwood Road, a paved boulevard. The location is ideal, being close to the Glendale-Burbank car line and near the center of the Northwest district,

The PELANCONI site, as everyone knows, lies high, dry and sightly and is far out of the menace of storm floods. You realize that a site for a school building should be selected with a view to permanency—one that will not in the future be subjected to the hazards of the elements nor hemmed in by industrial plants.

These two sites are of equal merit—neither one better than the other—except that by voting for the PELANCONI site you SAVE the district $30,000.00. Which do you want?

Do not make the mistake of selecting a site for your future high school that is menaced by flood waters nor one that is a prohibitive distance from the car line—therefore, VOTE for either the Gardner site or the PELANCONI site, bearing in mind that the PELANCONI site is costing you $30,000.00 LESS than the Gardner site, just across the street.

THE LARGE FAMILY

A Canadian woman, mother of six children, renot of her own family, but with a broader meaning. as a personal triumph. were ready to become wives, but if they consented merical limitation. In response to this letter came e from an American, mother of two children, and explaining that she wanted no more. She said she (as a representative mother) did not want to be tied wn to the nursery all the time, having more important things to do. Then she cited her own service as a juror, as a member of an election board, as a member of two bridge clubs and several social clubs. the added that her two children were away at boarding school, and were to stay there until educated. The letter closed with the not wholly courteous suggestion that the Canadian go back to Canada. It is possible there was small occasion for either etter. THE WILL AND THE WAY

The late Colonel Griffith had made a will by which one million dollars was to be devoted to improvement of the great park donated by him to Los Angeles. This provision materially lessened the amounts that otherwise would have gone to relatives. None of the legatees proposed a contest, and yet the instrument has been set aside. The view of the court was that, under the law as it stood at the time the will was drawn, not more than one-third of a fortune could be willed charity. This law has since been changed, so that the will is in perfect accord with present conditions. Nevertheless the old restriction is adjudged court, as the loss to the city Griffith had hoped to benefit, is serious. to govern. There will be an appeal to the supreme study'.

Of such injustice it is natural to assume that the heirs should be first to take note, and that a contest should be at their initiative. Then it is a question whether a public bequest, not for relief, but for artistic betterment, properly comes under the head of charity. Moreover, the change in the law indicates that the former restriction was not in consonance with the spirit sought to be expressed by that law, since the wisdom of changing it had impressed the legislative mind.

GRANADOS

Who says there is no romance in business?

I have just acquired a music rol! which reproduces an improvisation by Enrique Granados, the

By word of mouth or by messenger.

If the general of the army wished to comnicate with the general of another army, or with one of his sub-commanders, he did it by means of a messenger.

For the distance might be too great by word of mouth. Nowadays he communicates by wireless, by telephone or by telegraph.

If your friend wanted to let you know where he was in the old days he had to send his message by courier or runner.

Or come himself and tell it into your ear. Nowadays he takes down the telephone and calls your number and tells you he is waiting for you at the corner of This street and That avenue, as the case may be.

That is on land. And we have enjoyed that means of communication for a long time. But not so on the seas until recently.

For the sea, up to a few years ago, really was a trackless waste. And ships might hail each other as they passed, but there was no way of sending messages from one ship to another, or to all ships over far reaches of ocean.

So many a ship has perished and her pas-sengers and crew with her because there was no means of summoning help. Fire at sea meant usually the loss of passengers and crev.

Through the munificence of the Commonwealth Foundation this organization will be able to undertake in three American cities a complete demonstration in every avenue of protection of child health. The funds, amounting to $230,000 a year, have been made available for this work for a number of years, a city in the far West, one in the middle West, and another in the South.

Mr. Hoover characterized the great campaign of voluntary child health work that has been going on for many

This is a reduction of over 27 per cent in only four years. State bureaus devoted to child hygiene have grown from 28 to 46 in the same period.

Mr. Hoover declared that these great accomplishments have arisen in the proper American fashion, "by general public agitation by voluntary effort and conviction of the public of the righteousness of definite courses of action and ultimate incorporation into official and organized voluntary action by the community." "There is much still to be done although our public concern with education, health, welfare and joy of childhood is already far betry in the world," said Mr. Hoover. "The ideal to which we should drive is that there should be no child in America that has not been born under proper conditions, that

The objects of the com-bined child health associations, as announced by Mr. Hoover, are: First, That we stimulate appreciation of the children and the nation in the matter of health. Second, That the enormous activity in America for the welfare children and mothers shall be directed in a scientific manner and by scientifically trained men and women. Third, That these applications of science shall reach every corner of the country and every child in it. COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

There was a chauffeur who perceived the value of an education and proceeded to acquire it. A laudable ambition truly. He first went to night school. Meanwhile he had a wife and three children, added to his responsibility. It seems that his desire to learn was not with a view to ascending from a position at the steering wheel and taking his family along. The family was a handicap in relation to study and progress.

At last he had fitted himself to be an instructor, and heid a position in a technical school in Chicago. This was doing well for an ex-chauffeur who had advanced by his own efforts, but it appears that the family was not permitted to share his success. While a member of the staff at a Los Angeles school, he was arrested on the charge of non-support. At this writing he has the mischance to be in jail.

Ambition generally is an admirable trait. Unless a person possesses it, he never will go far. The chauffeur, for instance, must have ambition, or be content to run another man's car until retired for age. But even ambition has to be modified by an admixture of motives. The man who has a family, and gets so ambitious that the family is left out of his reckoning, has mistakenly hitched his wagon to a star. He still belongs on earth, where honest toil is rewarded by fair wages, the latter subject to division according to the terms of the marriage

Nobody would desire to discourage proper ambition. It is well to remember, however, that ambition, turned into certain channels, becomes something else so different that the law may be forced to make

Ferdinand has been made king of Rumania. Perhaps he will like the job. Possibly he will stay on the throne awhile. One never can tell far ahead how a throne is going to act. Its tendency to totter is a strongly marked characteristic, and to slide off a tottering throne is easier than the small boy's glide adown the horsehair sofa

Senator Reed of Missouri is not finding the path back to Washington strewn with roses alone. There is a person named Brewster pposing him, and this man Brewster appears to have been pretty the path hereinbefore mentioned. Brewster reverses the usual campaign process, for he points to Reed's record, thus usurping a natural perogative of Reed. But perhaps the other candidate does not care to point; not in that direction, anyhow.

Two French aviators have made a remarkable duration flight. It failed, however, to equal that made by two American aviators a few days earlier. The Frenchmen propose to establish their own superiority simply by not permitting the American achievement to be counted. It will be counted in America.

Recently the government offered 41-4 bonds for sale. They were at once over-subscribed to the extent of more than a billion were at once over-subscribed to the extent of more than a blind dollars. Only announcement that the whole issue had been taken stopped the rush of orders. The incident is interesting. It shows that in this country is an abundance of money. It tends to create doubt as to sincerity of averments that the United States cannot afford to support its army and navy or to care properly for ex-service men. As a matter of fact it can afford to support whatever it cares to support. The effort to have it assume the role of collective tight wad is due mostly to the citizens who have so much money that the constant increase of it embarrasses them.

Discussion as to whether a college professor could support a family on $100 a month salary, reveals an absurd and humiliating condition. There should be no possible ground for such discussion.

Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher of Los Angeles asks whether children are more valuable than dogs. The tendency, perhaps universal, is to reply in the affirmative. As a matter of fact there is small occasion for the inquiry. Children should be cared for. In a different way, but as complete a fashion, dogs should be cared for. Neither should be permitted to run wild. The preacher apparently had become incensed because of imperfect enforcement of the dogmuzzling law. He cited many instances in which children had been bitten by "mad dogs." This is a common error. The fact that a dog bites is not evidence of rabies. To say that there is one case of rables in each 100,000 dogs that bite, probably is an over-estimate. At the same time, the biting dog should be restrained even to the extent of being destroyed. It is not pleasing to be bitten, quite regardless of the physical fitness of the biter.

Recently a young mother threw herself under a street car and was killed. Previously she had tried to buy poison. When her baby was three months old she had been deserted by her husband. Somewhere the wretch will read of her death, and know himself as a murderer. Wife-desertion, among the basest of crimes, generally goes unpunished unless the recreant husband suffers from remorse, which is not likely. Far more probable that in new surroundings he is busy in the effort to get another wife, she to be deserted in turn. When a runaway husband in California gets beyond the state line, he is safe. This ought not to be. He should be followed and dragged back, sentenced to prison for an indefinite term and being set to work on the public roads, paid wages, all to go to his family.

Massachusetts has set a fine example in this respect. Only this month an officer came from Boston to procure extradition of a wifedeserter, and was successful.

BY JOHN PILGRIM-No doubt my mind is low and un-Christian. But for all that am glad he slapped the kid. For weeks I have watched the neighbor's children playing in the street. It is a wide street. Likewise there are plenty of playgrounds near by in which the urchins could play if they wished. But they do not wish, and Neighbor and his wife have no control over them. and then Neighbor or the lady comes to the curb and coos like a dove:

"Now, Willie. Mustn't play in the street. Might get hurt."

And Willie gives them the haughty retort and goes on playing. Time after time drivers of automobiles, after howling down the street until they have wakened the seven sleepers, have run clear across the way to avoid tearing the ribs out of Willie and his friends. There sn't any defense for the automobilist who hits a child.

"The next time you do not get out of my way when I toot the horn I'm going to slap you," said Hank Devins yesterday morning. Willie gave him the unregardful snoot and went on playing. In the afternoon, driving at a funeral rate, he barely avoided driving over Willie, who burst from the ambusit of a tree. Willie didn't know the automobile was coming nor did he care. He felt the automobilists should get out of the way.

"You miserable little brat," said the white and shaken Devins. "Here's where you get it." And Willie did. I take pleasure in informing the universe that Willie got it good on the space made and provided. While the nervous Devins was spanking and Willie was bawling the news of the outrage Willie's father came out. Not even a fool of a man like Willie's father will stand idly by while a perfect stranger is spanking his child. In the end Neighbor reaped a black eye, Devins got arrested, Willie got spanked, and I went to court as a witness and told the truth. This morning Willie played mildly on the pavement. Every time he heard the sound of a horn he looked to see that he was in safe limits. Devins may have saved the kid's life.

If you had a family of eight children—would you buy enough food for four of them, in order to save money to feed the other four the next time?

A similar plan is proposed by some, just a few who have organized propaganda against the voting of the bonds for the completion of the new high school and the acquisition of a site for the next high school on the northwest side.

Admitting that a $600,000 high school on the site awaiting it would be overcrowded from the day its doors are opened—they are arguing it would be wise to so construct it—and then start building another—where they have land awaiting purchase.

Faith in Glendale they have, abundantly. They k now that more sites will be needed. BUT LIFE IS SHORT AND THEY DO NOT WISH ANY HIGH SCHOOL BUILT NOW WHICH WOULD PREVENT THE BUILDING OF A NEW HIGH SCHOOL ON ONE OF THEIR SITES WITHIN THE NEXT FEW YEARS.

Would you rather have one targe, economical high school with one teaching staff, in one plant—or would you rather have a yearly bond issue of $600,000 or more, to build another small high school every year?

Would you rather pay the salaries of half a dozen high school faculties—or would you rather have one faculty, one payroll and minimum cost of upkeep?

Few have raised a voice against the voting of the high school bonds who have not been directly or indirectly affected by personal interest, if not of themselves, then of someone else.

They seem to feel-rather no high school—than one not yielding personal profit.

THE LARGER HIGH SCHOOL, WITH A MINIMUM OF EXPENSE, A MAXIMUM OF ECONOMY —IS YOURS FOR THE VOTING. BUT YOU MUST VOTE. THE OPPOSITION WILL BE THERE WITH THE BALLOT.

The enrollment of the high school is 47 per cent over last year already. Without counting 100% gain in night school.

The public schools are overcrowded with an advancing army of children.

Six hundred thousand dollars spent for a new high school every year until Glendale reaches the maximum growth can meet the situation. THREE HUNDRED AND FIFTY THOUSAND VOTED NOW FOR THE NEW PLANT WILL ELIMINATE SUCH PLANTS NEXT YEAR AND THE YEAR AFTER.

Subdivisions around Glendale are rapidly filling up with new taxpayers whose children crowd the schools, whose parents share the cost of your educational system.

THINK! CONSIDER!

VORLD SERIES AND THE CASH REGISTER

By HENRY L. FARRELL United Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 19 .- Much of the taint of commercialism that has been weakening the prestige of baseball as the national sport was removed by the late world's series.

The act of the New York club owners in turning over the receipts of the second game to charity brought the game over a very

It might be said that they could do nothing else and save baseball, but the fact is they did it and their motives were relatively

Figures showing that each club got for its share only $41,218 out of the total receipts of $484,921 mean that the series practically was played for the profit of the players. Anyone familiar with what it costs to get ready and stage a series knows that the Giant and the Yankee club owners lost money on the series. For entertainment alone during the 1921 series the two New York clubs spent nearly $50,000 each.

Because the culb owners of pennant winning teams do not begin to get a real cut of the gate receipts until after the fourth game, when the players cease to get a share, it might be desirable for profit to have the series go the limit. When it went five games, with one game removed from the figures, it certainly indicates that commercialism is not the factor in baseball that skeptics have been wont to believe.

Even though they lost money, it was good business for the Giants to win the series in straight games. With a new park, more commodious and more accessible, being built by the Yankees, the Giants had to have some big drawing power to hold their own next year. If the fans have to choose between the two clubs on a basis of class, they certainly will become followers of the Giants next

Had it not been for the desire to make the Yankees look as inferior as possible, it is understood that McGraw planned to start young Jonnard on the mound in the fifth game to give the boy a chance and get him ready for next year.

Chances are that Jonnard would have won his game, as the Yanks were so thoroughly beaten before they went on the field that Cosey Dolan or Hughey Jennings might have pitched a winning Baseball's hold has become so strong on the public that it is doubtful if anything can destroy the game-not that anyone wants it destroyed, but on several occasions incidents have happened that After the disfavor caused by Umpire Hildebrand's actions stopping the second game of the series it was thought that the worst blow of all had been struck and that the series had been Just the reverse happened, however. The crowds became greater instead of decreasing and the park was closed an hour before the

The game is stronger now than it ever was before and it will remain that way if the club owners and the players are careful.

Big Reduction in Some Federal Taxes PILDE

Reductions in federal taxes which are effective for the current year will save taxpayers of the Los Angeles district the enormous sum of $8,600.000, according to Collector Rex Goodcell, who yesterday completed a survey of the cancellations and decreases in tax rates provided for by the Revenue State Health Bulletin Con-

The reduction in taxes for 1922 is approximately as follows: Income tax......$2,400,000.00
Transportation tax.......4,859,000.00
Sales and luxury tax.... 1,400,000.00

Total reductions$8,659,000.00 While the transportation, sales and luxury tax cancellations became effective January 1 of this year, the income tax reduction covers 1921 as well as 1922 and thereafter. An outstanding feature of Collector Goodcell's report is the fact that during the four years the transportation tax was operative, the Los Angeles district paid Uncle Sam $15,392,421.75 in transportation tax divided as follows:

Freight $6.063.966.15 7,364,173.51 Express 190.032.89 Pullman berths .. 87,868.93 779,380.27 This means that in the last four years $340,134,817.09 was expended in the Los Angeles district for transportation charges alone. Of this amount $232,132,305 was for freight charges, $3,940,657 for express, $92,052,168 for passenger tares, $1,098,361 for Pullman and $10,911,323 for oil transportation charges that were prepaid in some other district. Even the tax and passenger fares paid by the thousands of tourists coming here from outside points are not taken into account. Of the $2,400,000 income tax deduction $1,500,000 is distributed among 53,660 taxpayers with incomes of less than $5,000 and $700,-000 applies to surtaxes on larger incomes, while $200,000 affects property valuations. The new exemptions allowed heads of families and for dependants is now $2,500 and $400, which means an increased exemption for a married couple with one dependant of $700 or a tax saving of $28.00.

Collector Goodcell, pointed out that the relief afforded by the decreased taxation affects every person in the Los Angeles district who travels, pays freight, sends an express package, buys a Pullman berth, takes a drink of soda water, or who has a taxable income. In other words the relief afforded reached all classes. Although the Los Angeles office aces a tax reduction of more than ight million dollars annually Colector Godcell believes, that the total collections for the coming fiscal year will not be materially affected. He rigures that the marked expansion in every class of siness in the Los Angeles district will furnish sufficient new look the da taxes to easily absorb the eight a full day. million wiped out by the last rev-

tains Valuable Advice

on Canning

To the housewife who has been using preservative powders, or has contemplated the use of them, in doing her canning, it will be profitable to note that the state board of health claims that they are not effective. The state health bulletin contains a report this week from the United States Department of Agriculture on the efficiency of canning powders which are advertised, and sold throughout the country for the home canning of fruits and vegetables. The article in the bulletin states, "These powders are usually sold in small packages containing about one ounce of material and they consist essentially of boric acid with a small amount of salt. The experiments on these powders were tried out on 25 different varieties of bacteria and yeasts, and more than 300 jars of fruits and vegetables were used to complete the experiments. The results of these investigations indicate that boric acid canning powder is practically worthless as a representative in the canning of fruits and vegetables."

A portion of the official report contained in the Summary of the Department, Circular No. the United States Department of Agriculture is quoted as further authority: "The powder in the amount recommended for canning had no inhibitory effect on representative members of the anaero bic spore forming group especially the toxin-forming - B. botulinus, which has recently been responsi ble for many deaths from food poisoning.

"In the practical canning experiments the use of the powder for acid products was shown to be an unnecessary and wasteful practice, since material packed without the powder kept as well as that packed with it. Its use with the more or less neutral vegetables showed that the powder plus the inade-quate heating recommended was not sufficient to preserve the ma-tion of toxin in them by B. botu-
